

What Are the Differences between “Ecological Remediation” and “Ecological Restoration”?

By FENG Zi

Abstract:

China pays high attention to ecological protection and environmental governance, and China's social economic development is entering a new development stage. Many ecological governance projects have been launched all over the country, most of them are named "ecological remediation" or "ecological restoration" projects. This article makes an in-depth analysis of the differences between the two concepts.

Key words: ecological remediation, ecological restoration, nature, man-made, biodiversity conservation
